Welcome

to the Emerald Isle for EQTC 2026!

We are delighted to host the European Quantum Technologies Conference 2026, bringing together leaders from academia, industry, and policy to shape the future of quantum technologies in Europe. This year's event will provide a unique forum for collaboration, innovation, and strategic dialogue across the rapidly evolving quantum ecosystem.

We look forward to welcoming you to a dynamic and impactful event, in a vibrant Irish setting.

About EQTC

The EQTC 2026, the latest in the EQTC series, will be dedicated to reinforcing Europe's leadership in quantum technologies by fostering and promoting a collaborative ecosystem that includes academia, industry, and governmental bodies.

This event will serve as a critical platform for discussing strategic directions, sharing innovations, and engaging the entire European quantum technology community.

This three-day conference will focus on a variety of quantum technologies such as quantum computing, quantum communication, quantum sensing and metrology, and quantum materials.

High-level decision-makers from Member States, the European Commission, and key international stakeholders will engage in discussions aimed at advancing the quantum technology sector within Europe.

Who Should Attend

EQTC 2026 is designed for a broad audience across the quantum ecosystem, including:

- Researchers and academics in quantum science and technology
- Industry leaders and technology developers
- Startups and scale-ups in quantum innovation
- Policymakers and representatives from European and national institutions
- Investors and funding bodies
- International stakeholders interested in collaboration with the European quantum community

Programme

The EQTC 2026 programme will span three days and include:

- Plenary sessions featuring high-level speakers from academia, industry, and policy
- Parallel tracks covering:
 - Science
 - Technology
 - Industry & Innovation
 - Policy & Strategy
 - Skills & Workforce
- Panel discussions with European Commission representatives, Member States, and global stakeholders
- Side meetings and networking sessions
- Exhibitions and industry showcases

The programme will reflect key strategic priorities in Europe's quantum agenda and foster cross-sector collaboration.
